

Sight of Sub. Will Justify Shot From Armed Vessels

State Department Takes View That a Visit From Submarine Better Be Looked Upon As Hostile Act

STRICT CENSORSHIP ON MILITARY NEWS

Robert J. Bender
(By United Press)

Washington, March 10. — American armed merchantmen will be empowered to fire on Teutonic submarines at sight. The state department made this plain today declaring that neutral ships can presume that there will be a visit and search from German submarines inasmuch as Germany has served notice on the world disregarding that mandate of international law.

Sighting a German submarine will be sufficient to justify American gunners to turn loose the power of the guns. This interpretation given officially brings the possibility of war nearer. The navy department today put the screw on the censor lid regarding the question of armament. While newspapers and press offices and cable offices were requested to suppress all information pertaining to all vessels which leave American ports.

The navy department requests that news of American ships' sailings and arrivals insofar as trans-Atlantic area is concerned shall be withheld.

U. M. W. of A. Calls Special Convention

Miners Will Consider Many Suits Result of Broken Contracts

The Executive Committee of District No. 2 U. M. W. of A., at a meeting held at their headquarters on Read street last evening, decided to call convention of the representatives of the different locals in the district to meet at DuBois on Monday, March 26th, at 2:30 p. m.

This convention is called for the purpose of arriving at some understanding relative to the difficulties now existing throughout the district following breaking of the scale agreement by both miners and operators. As a result of the high price and heavy demand for coal throughout the country the agreement between employer and employee, which usually bound both sides, has been considered "a mere scrap of paper," and as a result but little attention was paid to the scale agreement and law suit after law suit has been piled up.

This convention will attempt to in some manner relieve the present situation.

BE SURE TO EAT AN ORANGE IT'S NATIONAL ORANGE DAY

Bob Shaw had Nothing to do With the Insertion of This Notice

Los Angeles, March 10.—Through-out the United States today is being observed as "National Orange Day." In Southern California, however, instead of being observed the day is being celebrated.

As a result of the motion pictures, postcards, newspapers and magazine advertising, personal letters, gifts of citrus fruit and scores of other methods used by citrus interests, the mayors of nearly 100 cities have issued proclamations calling attention to this being Orange Day, and asking their townspeople to partake liberally of the fruit. District chairmen throughout the United States have been at work arousing local interest and have arranged for practically all hotels to serve oranges in many different ways today.

Discovery of "Pill" Prevents Bad Fire

Somebody Threw Away Unfinished Cigarette which Started Fire

The fortunate discovery of a fire started by a discarded cigarette butt prevented a possible real blaze at the Wither Inn last evening. About 8 o'clock several guests sitting in the office began to smell smoke and after a few minutes when the fumes became stronger an investigation by Alex McMullen, of Madera, who was stopping there while in attendance at the board meeting of the U. M. W. of A. discovered a fire burning under the radiator in the smoking room. A bucket of water soon fixed the fire which had already burned a hole in the floor. Had the fire smoldered until the hotel closed a bad fire might have been the result.

Kolb is also believed to have been employed at the Canadian Car and Foundry company plant at Kingsland, N. J. when the explosion occurred there.

Dickinson Glee Club Here On Monday

Will Assist with Music at M. E. Church on Sunday Evening

With the burning of the Opera House there was a fear that no place would be available for concerts and musicales and that music lovers of Clearfield would have to forego the pleasure of hearing the different artists that visit here and especially the college glee clubs. The burning of the building will not deter the boys of the Dickinson Glee club who will be here on Sunday and Monday.

The Dickinson boys will be here with bells on and are prepared to give a bang up concert on Monday night. The concert will be held in the Sunday school room of the Trinity M. E. church. No admission will be charged but a silver offering will be taken at the door. On Sunday evening the college boys will assist in the music at the regular evening church service.

Russell Flegal one of the sons of H. J. Flegal is a member of the Dickinson company.

FIVE SOLDIERS IN THIS FAMILY

In speaking of military families in this time of possible need for every true and loyal American to spring to the defense of his country, we don't want to overlook the fact that our old friend, Comrade James Sutton, Sr., of Locust street, is a member of a family which was always there when duty called. Comrade Sutton and his brother Robert Sutton of East Brady served in the Union army during the Civil war, while Philip and Emmet, sons of Robert and James Sutton, Jr., of Clearfield all served in the Spanish-American war.

LOCAL BOY WITH ATHLETICS

Bill's many Clearfield friends are pulling hard for him to make this trip and under Connie's leadership he ought to end a regular season.

Resolutions of Fish And Game Lovers

Want no Change in Present Laws Effecting Game and Fish

At a meeting of the Hunters and Fishermen's association of Clearfield county, to which the sportsmen of the county had been generally invited, held in Clearfield on the evening of March 3rd, 1917, there being present representatives from the various camps and clubs throughout the county, a general discussion taking place it was apparent that the dominant feeling throughout the county was to the effect that no changes be made in the present existing game laws. A number of resolutions were presented, discussed, duly seconded and passed by a large majority. After the passage of the following resolutions the chair directed that the resolutions as adopted should be put in written form, a copy of which should be delivered to each of the representatives of this county and the senator from this district with the request that they bring these resolutions to the attention of the members of the committee on game as well as other members of the legislature to the end that the sentiment of the hunters and fishermen of Clearfield county may be embodied in any measures that may be proposed or passed at the present session.

The resolutions as adopted are as follows: (a) Resolved, That the sense of the Sportsmen of Clearfield county is to the effect that the present Hunting and Fishing laws are adequate and sufficient and that no changes be made in the Statutes as they now stand; and, further that if any changes in the present laws be made either through the passage of Bills already introduced or other Bills to be introduced that the sense of the meeting on the questions discussed before it is as follows: (b) Resolved, That Section 22 and Section 23 of House Bill No. 187, known as the Game Code, regulating the number of men who are permitted to hunt from each hunting camp at one time is repealed with a-favor, as a result of which unfavorable to the sportsmen that have been effected in the commonwealth and not be of national protection to deer (Passed unanimously.)

(c) Resolved, That the use of hunting dogs in the pursuit of feathered game is prohibited in this Commonwealth. WILLARD LOOKS GOOD FOR NEW FORTFOLIO

President of B. & O. Made Huge Success of Large Run Down System- Others Failed

FRIEND OF ORGANIZED LABOR

Washington, D. C., March 10.—The reported intention of President Wilson to place Daniel Willard, president of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad at the head of the transportation department of the Council of National Defense, has met with the unanimous indorsement of the railroad and business men of the country. In the opinion of these acquainted with Mr. Willard no better man could be found for the position, the importance of which, in the event of actual hostilities, could scarcely be overestimated.

The rapid movement of large bodies of men and great quantities of war materials and supplies from one section of the country to another, the question of the capacity of tracks, sidings and terminals, the capacity of cars the amount of power necessary, the way in which everything would be assembled and the effect on the country of the sudden mobilization of so large a part of the rolling stock facilities in this unaccustomed use—these are some of the problems of high strategy that Mr. Willard and his advisers would be called upon to solve, and solve without hesitation, in the event of actual warfare.

In America's large colony of railroad giants none is taller or broader or stronger than Daniel Willard, who during the last six years has placed a sorely-tried railroad system among the great transportation properties of the country. When, six years ago, Mr. Willard was called from the vice presidency of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy system to take the wheel and compass and steer the B. & O. road out of its stormy pathway into clear water some men shook their heads doubtfully. They believed that Mr. Willard was equal to the task if anybody was, but they didn't know whether or not anybody was.

Mr. Willard is a Yankee, having been born in the village of North Hatland, Vt., Jan. 28, 1861. Like so many men of his calling and high status in the contemporary railway world, he began at the bottom; but he started out with a better education than many of his rivals. With a high school and agricultural college education to his credit, when he was 18 years old he began railroading as a brakeman, and he continued in the lower ranges of the service until 1899, when he was made assistant to the general manager of the Baltimore and Ohio road. In 1901 he went to the Erie, and when he left that system, in 1904, he was general manager. During the next six years he was a vice president and administrative officer of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy and during a part of the same period he filled the presidency of the Colorado Midland Railway company. Thus it will be seen that he had had a varied training for the post of responsibility that came to him in 1910, when he was chosen to fill the presidency of the Baltimore and Ohio road.

Probably few men in the railroad business possess any greater or clearer knowledge of the transportation science than Mr. Willard. But with his knowledge he is broad, and unlike many railroad presidents and other officers high in authority he talks freely to newspaper men; and what he says is generally wise. He is fearless of speech and, if he commits errors, he appears ready to stand for them. But so far he has made no errors of speech that are worth the term.

He believes in results—not in the number of hours put in at any task. He is distinctly a man of affairs in general. With the Baltimore and Ohio road he has done wonders. During his six year's administration the road's operating capacity and financial status have radically changed for the better, and it has ceased to be one of the speculative properties dabbled with by persons conspicuous in "high finance."

Mr. Willard has been an effective spokesman for the railroads before many officials and non-official gatherings. He is progressive in his social theories and usually meets his opponents half way. He has steadily shown his influence, as a railway official, against provocative and ir-

Philipsburg Athletic Club Trims C. H. S.

"Good Morningstar" Expert at Calling of Fouls on Both Sides

The Philipsburg A. C. defeated C. H. S. last night at Philipsburg, 32-30. The game was a fast, rough one from start to finish and the outcome was in doubt until the last minute.

When the whistle blew for the end of the first half the score stood 13-13.

During the second half, first our team, and then the other was in the lead and if it had not been for the number of fouls called on Clearfield High, the final score would have been different, as the field goals were even, nine each, but the fouls stood 30 on Clearfield and 18 on Philipsburg. C. H. S. floor work was excellent, playing rings around the Philipsburg bunch, both in team work and attitude.

CLASS TENDERS B.C. YOUNGMAN A BANQUET

Seventy-five Members of Prominent Bible Class Organization Honor Instructor

GOOD FELLOWSHIP THE SLOMO

The members of the B. C. Youngman Bible Class tendered their venerable instructor a banquet last night in the banquet room of the Presbyterian church. This is the third annual banquet that has been held in honor of Mr. Youngman and seventy-five men greeted their host at the dinner hour. To say that it was enjoyed by all present would be a very mild statement. Good fellowship reigned throughout the evening.

Toastmaster Partridge started the ball rolling after a most excellent dinner prepared by the ladies of the church. With a few remarks appropriate to the occasion he introduced Richard Patterson who spoke on "The Class."

Mr. Patterson made a plea for strong support of the class as an institution of the church and of the community and paid a glowing tribute to Mr. Youngman as an instructor in schools and in theology. Previous to the introduction of Mr. Patterson the banqueters rose and sang American. Mr. Patterson recounted several instances in his earlier life while a student under Mr. Youngman. An amusing feature was the recounting of a question propounded to him by his instructor. It was "how many tons has a cat?" Dick drew "no subject for sometime but felt a solution to the problem. Any of our hearers are wondering whether he knows at the present day.

B. M. Fast was next—most in order and "next" to his job and also "next" well, you would have to have been there to appreciate this joke. He spoke on the subject "The School." As Superintendent of the Sunday School he spoke of his respect for Mr. Youngman as a helpful teacher and his influence on his co-workers in the field of Sunday school work.

Senator McQuown was in his usual fit style and wittily entertained the class on the subject "Poems." The memory of the Senator is marvelous and in spite of his advancing years, in intellect and good sportsmanship he is yet a young man of twenty, looking on the bright side of life and helping lift the pall of gloom from the shoulders of young men.

Sheriff Mahaffey was then called upon for some remarks on "History." Brother Mahaffey responded gracefully with the remarks that since he spoke on a part of his trip through the confederate states at the last banquet (where turtle soup was served) "he would start in where the turtle soup left off last year and continue on his journey." All were glad to hear from the veteran.

J. Frank Snyder, Esq., as the special guest of Mr. Youngman responded in his usual able manner. His few remarks were straight to the point and made a deep impression on the class.

As the hour was getting late the remarks of Rev. Dr. Meese were out short but what he said was full of good counsel and elevating thoughts. The presentation of a token of esteem to Mr. Youngman was the plan and task ordered by J. Fred Weaver by the class. The presentation was ably made and feelingly responded to by the host and honored gentlemen of the occasion.

During the evening the speaking was interspersed with the singing of old melodies led by Prof. Van Assen.

The Birthplace of Lincoln

The American People Now Own the Log Cabin Home of the Great Emancipator

On July 17, 1816, President Wilson signed a bill accepting on behalf of the federal government the log cabin in which Abraham Lincoln was born, near Hodgenville, Ky., and a memorial hall enclosing the cabin.

And with this act the American people have but paid another tribute to the greatest character in our national history. Of him it may well be said, as of another whose name has come down to us through the centuries, that he was "honest and lowly."

In a rude log cabin of unheaven logs, the chinks of which were daubed with clay, was born the Great Emancipator—Lawyer, President, the awkward, gangling backwoodsman whose physical characteristics and a smile, whose qualities of brain and soul brought a nation to his feet in a moment.

Thomas Lincoln married Nancy Hanks, daughter of a farmer of Hardin County, Kentucky, in 1806 and built with his own hands the cabin where on Feb. 12, 1809, March in Lincoln was born.

Lincoln's childhood is conversant with the details of Lincoln's life. Let us follow the career of the cabin.

An enterprising showman bought the cabin and exhibited it about the country for a time, but finally stored it away in a cellar, where it was found and purchased by Mr. Robert J. Collier.

In 1906 the farm was ordered sold at auction and was also purchased by Mr. Collier for $3,000. The Lincoln Farm Association, being formed shortly afterward, Mr. Collier deeded both farm and cabin to it to be held in trust for the nation.

A campaign to raise funds for the erecting of a memorial over the cabin was met with quick and generous response. Over 270,000 persons contributed amounts ranging from 25c. to $25,000, total of $938,000 being raised.

The corner stone was laid by President Theodore Roosevelt, Feb. 12, 1909, and the Memorial dedicated by President Wm. Taft, Nov. 9, 1911.

In the structure were used the largest pieces of marble ever set in any building in this country, each giant slab weighing 28 tons.

And within this handsome structure, surrounded by a heavy bronze chain, so that none may enter, stands the little cabin, its travelers over, safe under the protection of a mighty and grateful people who revere the memories surrounding it.

There is another thought to be added here, and because it has been expressed by another far more able, we quote the following from the pen of Charles A. Green in a communication to the (Rochester) Herald of Nov. 19th 1916—

"It would appear from this that the loyal people of this country are not ashamed of the humble beginnings of their notable men. We point proudly to this cabin and then to the glorious career of the man who rose from this lowly cabin to the highest pinnacle of fame. How is it, then, that many people are ashamed of humble beginnings, of the lowly life of their fathers, mothers or grandparents? How is it that the people are ashamed to wear plain clothes or live in small and unpretentious houses in these spend-thrift days? How is it that young people are ashamed to have it known that they must practice economy, when practicing of economy for them is an act of noble self-sacrifice?"

"Is there not a vast amount of false pride existing among us as men, women and children?"—Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh Railway Employees' Magazine.

Willy's Overland Motor Cars

Foresight and Courage

Automobile values as at present established are largely due to the foresight and courage of Mr. John N. Willys, the president of this institution.

He foresaw the universal use of the automobile and had the courage to produce quality cars in larger quantities than they had ever before been produced.

Steadily increasing production made possible savings and economies which steadily reduced costs and repeatedly established new values.

Eight years ago, with a net worth of little more than $50,000 this company produced 465 cars.

This year, with a net worth of over $65,000,000 we must produce over 200,000 cars to fill our dealers' contracts.

It has required an enormous investment in plant and equipment to prepare for this enormous production.

The prime requisite in the automobile industry is still foresight and courage.

Mr. Willys foresees a demand this year in excess of the possible supply.

In addition to enormous investment in plant and equipment Mr. Willys had the courage to contract long ago for enormous quantities of raw materials—$35,000,000 worth already in hand for this year's record production.

See all this reflected in the values we have to show you in the most comprehensive line of cars ever built by any one producer.

Note especially the remarkable values represented in the Big Four at $850 and the Light Six at $985.

GLASS OF SALTS CLEANS KIDNEYS

If your Back hurts or Bladder bothers you, drink lots of water.

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys, irritate the entire urinary tract, keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which removes the body's urinous waste and stimulates them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the food. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of water, you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys will act fine. This famous salts is made from the acids of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink when everyone should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this, also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache.

A HUNDRED MILLION LADY BUGS HARD AT WORK

Lady bug, lady bug, fly away home; your house is on fire and your children will burn.

(By United Press)

Sacramento, Cal., March 9. — If somebody stood up and yelled that quatrains down the Imperial valley today the melon growers would be in an awful fix because they have a hundred million lady bugs working for them killing off undesirable insects.

Agents of the state bug house spent weeks up in the mountain this year gathering the little red ladies with the speckled backs, who are considered particularly effective against the gentlemen bugs who attack the growing cantaloupe.

The California lady bug is getting quite a world wide reputation. Some several millions of her have been shipped to Italy and Australia for experimental purposes.

DRINK WATER TO AVOID SICKNESS SAYS AUTHORITY

Glass of hot water before breakfast daily keeps the doctor away.

Sanitary science has of late made rapid strides with results that are of untold blessing to humanity. The latest application of its untiring research is the recommendation that it is as necessary to attend to the internal sanitation of the drainage system of the human body as it is to the drains of the house.

Those of us who are accustomed to feel dull and heavy when we arise, splitting headache, stuffy from a cold, foul tongue, nasty breath, acid stomach, can, instead, feel as fresh as a daisy by opening the sluices of the system each morning and flushing out the whole of the internal poisonous stagnant matter.

Everyone, whether ailing, sick or well, should, each morning before breakfast, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver and bowels the poisonous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and poisonous toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach. The action of hot water and limestone phosphate on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases, waste and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast. While you are enjoying your breakfast the phosphated hot water is quietly extracting a large volume of water from the blood and getting ready for a thorough flushing of all the inside organs.

The millions of people who are bothered with constipation, bilious spells, stomach trouble, rheumatic stiffness, others who have yellow skin, blood disorders and sickly complexion are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store. This will last very little but is sufficient to make anyone a pronounced crank on the subject of internal sanitation.

BIG CANADIAN LOAN TO BE FLOATED

New York, March 10.—A hundred million dollars worth of Canadian government 5 per cent, 20 year bonds, payable either here or in Montreal in gold dollars, are expected to be offered on the New York market within the next 48 hours.

This $100,000,000 loan will be the third of the kind Canada has offered in the United States since the war began. It is understood a fourth loan of the same size may be asked within the next few months. Of the first loan $25,000,000 and of the second $30,000,000 worth of the bonds were placed in the United States. Canadian bonds always have been popular with United States investors and usually are oversubscribed.

LESSON: X.—FIRST QUARTER FOR MARCH 11, 1917

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Text of the Lesson, John vi, 22-40. Memory Verses, 32, 33—Golden Text, John vi, 35—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

Anything that will give a man a living, provide that which he needs to supply his physical necessities, seems to most people to be the all important thing. Here is a man who abundantly fed more than 5,000 people and by his helpers waited on them all and served them. They must not lose sight of Him, for with Him they never need be hungry. So they follow Him across the sea and find Him. He knew what was in them. He read their hearts and told them why they sought Him (verse 26). Then He told them of something more important than life for the body—everlasting life and bread from heaven and a resurrection body, which would never die. In other discourses He told them, or rather, his own disciples, that if they made the coming of His kingdom their first concern their Heavenly Father would see that they never should lack food or raiment (Matt. vi, 31-33; Luke xii, 29-31). But before any one can make the coming of His kingdom, their first business they must obtain eternal life as the gift of God, and this is more important than keeping the body alive, a thing that only God Himself can do, for He giveth life and breath and all things, and no one can keep alive his own soul (Acts xvii, 25, 28; Ps. cxli, 29). To the man who thought he had plenty to keep his body and soul together for a long time God said: "This night thy soul shall be required of thee. Then whose shall those things be?"

The great thing is to be rich toward God by receiving Himself as our life and then ever be found laying up treasure in heaven by a whole hearted missionary life of winning others to Him and thus helping to hasten the coming of His kingdom (Luke xii, 35-37). To the question of these people, What shall we do that we might work the works of God? His answer was that the one thing needful, the one essential thing, was to believe on Him whom God had sent—that is, receive Him (verses 28, 29; 1, 12). Then they ask for a sign, some work of His, that they might believe on Him, and this after they had just seen Him feed thousands of people with a few loaves and fishes. What more did they want? What more could they ask? Then they seem to make light of His recent feeding of the multitude by quoting Moses as feeding Israel in the wilderness. This led to His further discourse on eating Himself as the real manna, the true bread from heaven. Mark His wonderful words, "My Father giveth you the true bread from heaven, for the bread of God is He which cometh down from heaven and giveth life unto the world; I am the living bread which came down from heaven: if any man eat of this bread he shall live forever, and the bread that I will give is my flesh, which I will give for the life of the world." "Except ye eat the flesh of the Son of Man and drink His blood ye have no life in you" (verses 32, 33, 38, 42, 51, 53).

No mere man could say such things and be truthful or in His right mind, but He was the God-man, God manifest in the flesh, and He was the Truth. Compare verses 47, 54 and note that He says to eat His flesh and drink His blood is the same as believing in Him, for the result of each is eternal life, and there are not two ways of obtaining eternal life. Compare verse 56 and 1 John iii, 24, and note that eating His flesh and drinking His blood bring the same result as keeping His commandments. So the one great thing is just believing Him, receiving Him, appropriating Him, as He would for our bodies. As He lived by the Father who sent Him, we are to eat Him and live by Him (verse 57). This is no new figure, for the prophets understood it, one saying, "Thy words were found, and I did eat them, and thy word was unto me the joy and rejoicing of my heart," another being admonished in these words: "Eat that thou findest: eat this roll, and go speak unto the house of Israel; * * * all they bowels with this roll that I give thee * * * and speak with my words unto them" (Jer. xv, 16; Ezek. iii, 1-4).

Because of these sayings the Jew, murmured at Him, as did also many of His disciples, yet He went on to speak of ascending up where He was before (verses 41, 51, 52). Many of His disciples even went back and walked no more with Him, but if they had been true disciples they would have continued with Him. As it is written, "They went out from us, but they were not of us" (verse 66 and 1 John ii, 19). Simon Peter's answer when He asked "Will ye also go away?" is very notable: "Lord, to whom shall we go? Thou hast the words of eternal life, and we believe and are sure that thou art that Christ, the Son of the Living God" (verses 67-69). Perhaps no word in this discourse has brought more comfort to souls than the last clause of verse 57, "Him that cometh to Me I will in no wise cast out." So when any unsaved sinner or any wandering backslider comes to Him they may be certain of being accepted. The first clause of that verse should rest us concerning the sure completion of His church.

Fashion Hints By Margaret Mason

(Written for the United Press)

On Monday she was a saintly nun, On Tuesday a Carmen bold, On Wednesday she was the harem's pride, In veils and an anklet gold; On Thursday night in a cheese cloth scarf, She went as a piece of cheese, On Friday night as "The breath of Spring," She started to sneeze and sneeze; Saturday found her a red cross nurse, Most terribly cross and red, For after a week of costume balls She really was almost dead; But even then on the Sabbath morn, She wasn't herself they said, For she was a pink pajama girl When they tucked her into bed.

New York, March, 9.—Masquerades and costume fetes certainly seem to be growing on us. If only the costumes themselves could grow on us it wouldn't be so expensive.

Dressing up is the universal joy of all ages and all nationalities. In all walks of life we find a penchant for it from infancy, when he is just beginning to toddle, till old age, when we are just beginning to totter.

There's this vast difference though between the dressing up of childhood and the dressing up of maturity. All you have to give the children an excuse for dressing up is a bit of old ribbon or a discarded hat, but as an excuse for the dressing up of grown-ups you have to give an Arabian Nights' bill or an Old World fete.

The war, of course, has provided the best excuse of all for dressing up with costume balls for all sorts of relief for all sorts of nations. Consequently life in the big American cities is just one costume ball after another and even out in Wamego, Kansas and Adrian, Michigan the cowboy suits and terrors of the Chinese kimono and Colonial gowns at the local costumers are always worn to a thread.

Have you ever noticed how invariably people pick out their costumes to represent some character in direct antithesis to their ordinary everyday personality. They sort of cut loose as it were and let themselves be what they have always secretly yearned to be in their innermost bosoms. For instance the meek drab little housewife and mother blossoms out into a devilish seductive Carmen, Thais or Cleopatra.

The rather gay young person who makes up her lips and powders her nose runs to Quaker, nun or Red Cross nurse effects while the portly and Amazonian Miss Vera Bigg comes as a baby doll or Little Boopie.

This works for males as well as the fair sex and Mr. Hen Peck always masquerades as a swashbuckling grenadier or a bloodthirsty Corsair, Prof. Erasmus Highbrow as Little Boy Blue or Buster Brown and Deacon Goods as Don Juan or Mephisto.

Arabian Nights' halls, Russian Fetes and Masques of the Gods have become a bit cloying after endless repetition so that a recent benefit ball where all the guests came to represent some well known advertisement was a welcome and diverting novelty. The costumes were most clever and unique and the idea will bear much repetition for private consumption. Possibilities for costumes are endless and beautifully simple. If you want to go as a dentifrice, just wear a smile and carry a toothbrush.

If or you so choose you may carry a spear, wear a corsage of mint leaves and go as a gum girl. If the costumes are restricted to certain periods or certain groups of things the ideas are apt to be much cleverer and more original than when a sweeping conglomeration of everything is permissible.

An artist's ball with every one to represent some well known canvas character or beauty lacks freshness since all the masters, old and modern have been worn to the last coat in many tableaux vivants for several seasons. Then to painted ladies are

STRICT CENSORSHIP ON MILITARY NEWS

Robert J. Bender

(By United Press)

Washington, March 10. — American armed merchantmen will be empowered to fire on Teutonic submarines at sight. The state department made this plain today declaring that neutral ships can presume that there will be a visit and search from German submarines inasmuch as Germany has served notice on the world disregarding that mandate of international law.

Sighting a German submarine will be sufficient to justify American gunners to turn loose the power of the guns. This interpretation given officially brings the possibility of war nearer. The navy department today put the screw on the censor lid regarding the question of armament. While newspapers and press offices and cable offices were requested to suppress all information pertaining to all vessels which leave American ports.

The navy department requests that news of American ships' sailings and arrivals insofar as trans-Atlantic area is concerned shall be withheld.

U. M. W. of A. Calls Special Convention

Miners Will Consider Many Suits Result of Broken Contracts

The Executive Committee of District No. 2 U. M. W. of A., at a meeting held at their headquarters on Read street last evening, decided to call convention of the representatives of the different locals in the district to meet at DuBois on Monday, March 26th, at 2:30 p. m.

This convention is called for the purpose of arriving at some understanding relative to the difficulties now existing throughout the district following breaking of the scale agreement by both miners and operators.

As a result of the high price and heavy demand for coal throughout the country the agreement between employer and employee, which usually bound both sides, has been considered "a mere scrap of paper," and as a result but little attention was paid to the scale agreement and law suit after law suit has been piled up.

This convention will attempt to in some manner relieve the present situation.

PROPERTY TRANSFERS

The Andrew Froyd property on W. Front street has been sold by Wm. Eisenhahr to Jay H. Garman of Washington D. C., who is connected with the Express company here.

Another transfer of property is the sale of S. E. Laborde property and four vacant lots to Arvid Anderson of Glen Richey, who is moving here at once. Mr. Anderson is employed by the N. Y. C.

BE SURE TO EAT AN ORANGE

IT'S NATIONAL ORANGE DAY

Bob Shaw had Nothing to do With the Insertion of This Notice

Los Angeles, March 10.—Through-out the United States today is being observed as "National Orange Day." In Southern California, however, instead of being observed the day is being celebrated.

As a result of the motion pictures, postcards, newspapers and magazine advertising, personal letters, gifts of citrus fruit and scores of other methods used by citrus interests, the mayors of nearly 100 cities have issued proclamations calling attention to this being Orange Day, and asking their townspeople to partake liberally of the fruit.

District chairmen throughout the United States have been at work arousing local interest and have arranged for practically all hotels to serve oranges in many different ways today.

Discovery of "Pill" Prevents Bad Fire

Somebody Threw Away Unfinished Cigarette which Started Fire

The fortunate discovery of a fire started by a discarded cigarette butt prevented a possible real blaze at the Wither Inn last evening. About 8 o'clock several guests sitting in the office began to smell smoke and after a few minutes when the fumes became stronger an investigation by Alex McMullen, of Madera, who was stopping there while in attendance at the board meeting of the U. M. W. of A. discovered a fire burning under the radiator in the smoking room. A bucket of water soon fixed the fire which had already burned a hole in the floor. Had the fire smoldered until the hotel closed a bad fire might have been the result.

FREDERICK KOLB

Frederick Kolb, a German, was caught in Hoboken, N. J., with bombs which the police here believe were for explosion of munition plants. His partner confessed they had placed more bombs near the scene of the Black Tom explosion at Communipaw, N. J., where many millions in ammunition was blown up some months ago. Kolb is also believed to have been employed at the Canadian Car and Foundry company plant at Kingsland, N. J. when the explosion occurred there.

Dickinson Glee Club Here On Monday

Will Assist with Music at M. E. Church on Sunday Evening

With the burning of the Opera House there was a fear that no place would be available for concerts and musicales and that music lovers of Clearfield would have to forego the pleasure of hearing the different artists that visit here and especially the college glee clubs. The burning of the building will not deter the boys of the Dickinson Glee club who will be here on Sunday and Monday.

The Dickinson boys will be here with bells on and are prepared to give a bang up concert on Monday night. The concert will be held in the Sunday school room of the Trinity M. E. church. No admission will be charged but a silver offering will be taken at the door. On Sunday evening the college boys will assist in the music at the regular evening church service.

Russell Flegal one of the sons of H. J. Flegal is a member of the Dickinson company.

FIVE SOLDIERS IN THIS FAMILY

In speaking of military families in this time of possible need for every true and loyal American to spring to the defense of his country, we don't want to overlook the fact that our old friend, Comrade James Sutton, Sr., of Locust street, is a member of a family which was always there when duty called. Comrade Sutton and his brother Robert Sutton of East Brady served in the Union army during the Civil war, while Philip and Emmet, sons of Robert and James Sutton, Jr., of Clearfield all served in the Spanish-American war.

Resolutions of Fish And Game Lovers

Want no Change in Present Laws Effecting Game and Fish

At a meeting of the Hunters and Fishermen's association of Clearfield county, to which the sportsmen of the county had been generally invited, held in Clearfield on the evening of March 3rd, 1917, there being present representatives from the various camps and clubs throughout the county, a general discussion taking place it was apparent that the dominant feeling throughout the county was to the effect that no changes be made in the present existing game laws. A number of resolutions were presented, discussed, duly seconded and passed by a large majority. After the passage of the following resolutions the chair directed that the resolutions as adopted should be put in written form, a copy of which should be delivered to each of the representatives of this county and the senator from this district with the request that they bring these resolutions to the attention of the members of the committee on game as well as other members of the legislature to the end that the sentiment of the hunters and fishermen of Clearfield county may be embodied in any measures that may be proposed or passed at the present session.

The resolutions as adopted are as follows:

(a) Resolved, That the sense of the Sportsmen of Clearfield county is to the effect that the present Hunting and Fishing laws are adequate and sufficient and that no changes be made in the Statutes as they now stand; and, further that if any changes in the present laws be made either through the passage of Bills already introduced or other Bills to be introduced that the sense of the meeting on the questions discussed before it is as follows:

(b) Resolved, That Section 22 and Section 23 of House Bill No. 187, known as the Game Code, regulating the number of men who are permitted to hunt from each hunting camp at one time is repealed with a favor, as it is not only unfavorable to the sportsmen but has been effected with commonwealth and not be of national protection to the (Passed unanimously)

(c) Resolved, That the use of hunting dogs in the pursuit of feathered game be prohibited in this Commonwealth.

WILLARD LOOKS GOOD FOR NEW FORTFOLIO

President of B. & O. Made Huge Success of Large Run Down System- Others Failed

FRIEND OF ORGANIZED LABOR

Washington, D. C., March 10.—The reported intention of President Wilson to place Daniel Willard, president of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad at the head of the transportation department of the Council of National Defense, has met with the unanimous indorsement of the railroad and business men of the country. In the opinion of these acquainted with Mr. Willard no better man could be found for the position, the importance of which, in the event of actual hostilities, could scarcely be overestimated.

The rapid movement of large bodies of men and great quantities of war materials and supplies from one section of the country to another, the question of the capacity of tracks, sidings and terminals, the capacity of cars the amount of power necessary, the way in which everything would be assembled and the effect on the country of the sudden mobilization of so large a part of the rolling stock facilities in this unaccustomed use—these are some of the problems of high strategy that Mr. Willard and his advisers would be called upon to solve, and solve without hesitation, in the event of actual warfare.

In America's large colony of railroad giants none is taller or broader or stronger than Daniel Willard, who during the last six years has placed a sorely-tried railroad system among the great transportation properties of the country. When, six years ago, Mr. Willard was called from the vice presidency of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy system to take the wheel and compass and steer the B. & O. road out of its stormy pathway into clear water some men shook their heads doubtfully. They believed that Mr. Willard was equal to the task if anybody was, but they didn't know whether or not anybody was.

Mr. Willard is a Yankee, having been born in the village of North Hatland, Vt., Jan. 28, 1861. Like so many men of his calling and high status in the contemporary railway world, he began at the bottom; but he started out with a better education than many of his rivals. With a high school and agricultural college education to his credit, when he was 18 years old he began railroading as a brakeman, and he continued in the lower ranges of the service until 1899, when he was made assistant to the general manager of the Baltimore and Ohio road. In 1901 he went to the Erie, and when he left that system, in 1904, he was general manager. During the next six years he was a vice president and administrative officer of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy and during a part of the same period he filled the presidency of the Colorado Midland Railway company. Thus it will be seen that he had had a varied training for the post of responsibility that came to him in 1910, when he was chosen to fill the presidency of the Baltimore and Ohio road.

Probably few men in the railroad business possess any greater or clearer knowledge of the transportation science than Mr. Willard. But with his knowledge he is broad, and unlike many railroad presidents and other officers high in authority he talks freely to newspaper men; and what he says is generally wise. He is fearless of speech and, if he commits errors, he appears ready to stand for them. But so far he has made no errors of speech that are worth the term.

He believes in results—not in the number of hours put in at any task. He is distinctly a man of affairs in general. With the Baltimore and Ohio road he has done wonders. During his six year's administration the road's operating capacity and financial status have radically changed for the better, and it has ceased to be one of the speculative properties dabbled with by persons conspicuous in "high finance."

Mr. Willard has been an effective spokesman for the railroads before many officials and non-official gatherings. He is progressive in his social theories and usually meets his opponents half way. He has steadily shown his influence, as a railway chief, against provocative and ir-

When the whistle blew for the end of the first half the score stood 13-13.

During the second half, first our team, and then the other was in the lead and if it had not been for the number of fouls called on Clearfield High, the final score would have been different, as the field goals were even, nine each, but the fouls stood 30 on Clearfield and 18 on Philipsburg. C. H. S. floor work was excellent, playing rings around the Philipsburg bunch, both in team work and attitude.

CLASS TENDERS B.C. YOUNGMAN A BANQUET

GOOD FELLOWSHIP THE SLOMO

The members of the B. C. Youngman Bible Class tendered their venerable instructor a banquet last night in the banquet room of the Presbyterian church. This is the third annual banquet that has been held in honor of Mr. Youngman and seventy-five men greeted their host at the dinner hour. To say that it was enjoyed by all present would be a very mild statement. Good fellowship reigned throughout the evening.

Toastmaster Partridge started the ball rolling after a most excellent dinner prepared by the ladies of the church. With a few remarks appropriate to the occasion he introduced Richard Patterson who spoke on "The Class."

Mr. Patterson made a plea for strong support of the class as an institution of the church and of the community and paid a glowing tribute to Mr. Youngman as an instructor in schools and in theology. Previous to the introduction of Mr. Patterson the banqueters rose and sang American. Mr. Patterson recounted several instances in his earlier life while a student under Mr. Youngman. An amusing feature was the recounting of a question propounded to him by his instructor. It was "how many tons has a cat?" Dick drew "no subject for sometime but felt a solution to the problem. Any of our hearers are wondering whether he knows at the present day.

B. M. Fast was next—most in order and "next" to his job and also "next" well, you would have to have been there to appreciate this joke. He spoke on the subject "The School." As Superintendent of the Sunday School he spoke of his respect for Mr. Youngman as a helpful teacher and his influence on his co-workers in the field of Sunday school work.

Senator McQuown was in his usual fit style and wittily entertained the class on the subject "Poems." The memory of the Senator is marvelous and in spite of his advancing years, in intellect and good sportsmanship he is yet a young man of twenty, looking on the bright side of life and helping lift the pall of gloom from the shoulders of young men.

Sheriff Mahaffey was then called upon for some remarks on "History." Brother Mahaffey responded gracefully with the remarks that since he spoke on a part of his trip through the confederate states at the last banquet (where turtle soup was served) "he would start in where the turtle soup left off last year and continue on his journey." All were glad to hear from the veteran.

J. Frank Snyder, Esq., as the special guest of Mr. Youngman responded in his usual able manner. His few remarks were straight to the point and made a deep impression on the class.

As the hour was getting late the remarks of Rev. Dr. Reeves were out short but what he said was full of good counsel and elevating thoughts. The presentation of a token of esteem to Mr. Youngman was the piano and task ordered by J. Fred Weaver by the class. The presentation was ably made and feelingly responded to by the host and honored gentlemen of the occasion.

During the evening the speaking was interspersed with the singing of old melodies led by Prof. Van Assen.

The Birthplace of Lincoln

The American People Now Own the Log Cabin Home of the Great Emancipator

On July 17, 1816, President Wilson signed a bill accepting on behalf of the federal government the log cabin in which Abraham Lincoln was born, near Hodgenville, Ky., and a memorial hall enclosing the cabin.

And with this act the American people have but paid another tribute to the greatest character in our national history. Of him it may well be said, as of another whose name has come down to us through the centuries, that he was "honest and lowly."

In a rude log cabin of unheaven logs, the chinks of which were daubed with clay, was born the Great Emancipator—Lawyer, President, the awkward, gangling backwoodsman whose physical characteristics and a smile, whose qualities of brain and soul brought a nation to his feet in a moment.

Thomas Lincoln married Nancy Hanks, daughter of a farmer of Henderson County, Kentucky, in 1806 and built with his own hands the cabin where on Feb. 12, 1809, March in Lincoln was born.

Lincoln's childhood is conversant with the details of Lincoln's life. Let us follow the career of the cabin.

An enterprising showman bought the cabin and exhibited it about the country for a time, but finally stored it away in a cellar, where it was found and purchased by Mr. Robert J. Collier.

In 1906 the farm was ordered sold at auction and was also purchased by Mr. Collier for $3,000. The Lincoln Farm Association, being formed shortly afterward, Mr. Collier deeded both farm and cabin to it to be held in trust for the nation.

A campaign to raise funds for the erection of a memorial over the cabin was met with quick and generous response. Over 270,000 persons contributed amounts ranging from 25c. to $25,000, total of $933,000 being raised.

The corner stone was laid by President Theodore Roosevelt, Feb. 12, 1909, and the Memorial dedicated by President Wm. Taft, Nov. 9, 1911.

In the structure were used the largest pieces of marble ever set in any building in this country, each giant slab weighing 28 tons.

And within this handsome structure, surrounded by a heavy bronze chain, so that none may enter, stands the little cabin, its travels over, safe under the protection of a mighty and grateful people who revere the memories surrounding it.

There is another thought to be added here, and because it has been expressed by another far more able, we quote the following from the pen of Charles A. Green in a communication to the (Rochester) Herald of Nov. 19th 1916—

"It would appear from this that the loyal people of this country are not ashamed of the humble beginnings of their notable men. We point proudly to this cabin and then to the glorious career of the man who rose from this lowly cabin to the highest pinnacle of fame. How is it, then, that many people are ashamed of humble beginnings, of the lowly life of their fathers, mothers or grandparents? How is it that the people are ashamed to wear plain clothes or live in small and unpretentious houses in these spend-thrift days? How is it that young people are ashamed to have it known that they must practice economy, when practicing of economy for them is an act of noble self-sacrifice?"

"Is there not a vast amount of false pride existing among us as men, women and children?"—Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh Railway Employees' Magazine.

BRITISH DIPLOMATESS TO WED IN WASHINGTON

(By United Press)

Washington, March 9.—The world again took notice when Miss Violet Fickens of London, was appointed secretary to the British embassy here. It was the first official appearance of a woman in the diplomatic circles of the world. Early next month, it is learned today, she will desert diplomacy for matrimony.

Miss Erskine will wed Horace Seymour, third secretary of the British Embassy in Washington, some day soon after Easter Sunday, April 8. Miss Erskine is the daughter of the late Thomas Erskine, who was British Consul General in New Orleans. She is a handsome young woman, blonde, graceful and charming; and a great favorite with Sir Cecil and Lady Spring-Rice. She won her appointment through her exceptional knowledge of customs and American institutions.

The wedding, it is presumed, will take place at the embassy. The original plan was for a wedding trip to England, but whether that will be taken is not known at this time.

GASOLINE PROBABLY WILL CONTINUE HIGH

Washington, March 10.—Congress was too busy with other things to look into the price of gasoline as suggested by Representative Steenerson's resolution in the house; and in consequence automobile owners probably will pay a good stiff price for their gas again this year. Thousands of cars were kept in their garages last year because gas was too high; and unless a substitute is found or prices come down they probably will stay there this year too.

GLASS OF SALTS CLEANS KIDNEYS

If your Back hurts or Bladder bothers you, drink lots of water.

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys, irritate the entire urinary tract, keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which removes the body's urinous waste and stimulates them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of water, you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys will act fine. This famous salts is made from the acids of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this, also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache.

PHILA DOESN'T KNOW WHAT TO DO WITH NEGROES

Philadelphia, March 10.—More than 25,000 negroes have settled in Philadelphia in the last six months and the city government doesn't know exactly how to meet the problem of congestion in their sector of the city. Small flats are housing as many as five and six families. The influx is said to be due to the fact that the negroes think they will be more cordially received here than in other American cities.

Willy's Overland Motor Cars

Foresight and Courage

Automobile values as at present established are largely due to the foresight and courage of Mr. John N. Willys, the president of this institution.

He foresaw the universal use of the automobile and had the courage to produce quality cars in larger quantities than they had ever before been produced.

Steadily increasing production made possible savings and economies which steadily reduced costs and repeatedly established new values.

Eight years ago, with a net worth of little more than $50,000 this company produced 465 cars.

This year, with a net worth of over $65,000,000 we must produce over 200,000 cars to fill our dealers' contracts.

It has required an enormous investment in plant and equipment to prepare for this enormous production.

The prime requisite in the automobile industry is still foresight and courage.

Mr. Willys foresees a demand this year in excess of the possible supply.

In addition to enormous investment in plant and equipment Mr. Willys had the courage to contract long ago for enormous quantities of raw materials—$35,000,000 worth already in hand for this year's record production.

See all this reflected in the values we have to show you in the most comprehensive line of cars ever built by any one producer.

Note especially the remarkable values represented in the Big Four at $850 and the Light Six at $985.

SAVE THE BABIES

These are authentic quotations from the pamphlet on babies by Dr. L. Emmett Holt of Columbia University and Dr. Henry L. K. Shaw of Union University.

Supper for a child two to three years old should be served at 5:30 p. m. It should consist of a well cooked cereal, or bread and milk, or bread and butter and cocoa, and stewed fruit or apple sauce. Give him also a glass of warmed milk. Do not give the child anything to eat between meals. Be sure that he has several drinks of water during the day.

A HUNDRED MILLION LADY BUGS HARD AT WORK

Lady bug, lady bug, fly away home; your house is on fire and your children will burn.

(By United Press)

Sacramento, Cal., March 9.—If somebody stood up and yelled that quatrains down the Imperial valley today the melon growers would be in an awful fix because they have a hundred million lady bugs working for them killing off undesirable insects.

Agents of the state bug house spent weeks up in the mountain this year gathering the little red ladies with the speckled backs, who are considered particularly effective against the gentlemen bugs who attack the growing cantaloupe.

The California lady bug is getting quite a world wide reputation. Some several millions of her have been shipped to Italy and Australia for experimental purposes.

DRINK WATER TO AVOID SICKNESS SAYS AUTHORITY

Glass of hot water before breakfast daily keeps the doctor away.

Sanitary science has of late made rapid strides with results that are of untold blessing to humanity. The latest application of its untiring research is the recommendation that it is as necessary to attend to the internal sanitation of the drainage system of the human body as it is to the drains of the house.

Those of us who are accustomed to feel dull and heavy when we arise, splitting headache, stuffy from a cold, foul tongue, nasty breath, acid stomach, can, instead, feel as fresh as a daisy by opening the sluices of the system each morning and flushing out the whole of the internal poisonous stagnant matter.

Everyone, whether ailing, sick or well, should, each morning before breakfast, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver and bowels the profuse day's indigestible waste, sour bile and poisonous toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach. The action of hot water and limestone phosphate on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases, waste and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast. While you are enjoying your breakfast the phosphated hot water is quietly extracting a large volume of water from the blood and getting ready for a thorough flushing of all the inside organs.

The millions of people who are bothered with constipation, bilious spells, stomach trouble, rheumatic stiffness, others who have yellow skin, blood disorders and sickly complexion are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store. This will last very little but is sufficient to make anyone a pronounced crank on the subject of internal sanitation.

BIG CANADIAN LOAN TO BE FLOATED

New York, March 10.—A hundred million dollars worth of Canadian government 5 per cent, 20 year bonds, payable either here or in Montreal in gold dollars, are expected to be offered on the New York market within the next 48 hours.

This $100,000,000 loan will be the third of the kind Canada has offered in the United States since the war began. It is understood a fourth loan of the same size may be asked within the next few months. Of the first loan $25,000,000 and of the second $30,000,000 worth of the bonds were placed in the United States. Canadian bonds always have been popular with United States investors and usually are oversubscribed.

LESSON: X.—FIRST QUARTER FOR MARCH 11, 1917

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Text of the Lesson, John vi, 22-40. Memory Verses, 32, 33—Golden Text, John vi, 35—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

Anything that will give a man a living, provide that which he needs to supply his physical necessities, seems to most people to be the all important thing. Here is a man who abundantly fed more than 5,000 people and by his helpers waited on them all and served them. They must not lose sight of Him, for with Him they never need be hungry. So they follow Him across the sea and find Him. He knew what was in them. He read their hearts and told them why they sought Him (verse 26). Then He told them of something more important than life for the body—everlasting life and bread from heaven and a resurrection body, which would never die. In other discourses He told them, or rather, his own disciples, that if they made the coming of His kingdom their first concern their Heavenly Father would see that they never should lack food or raiment (Matt. vi, 31-33; Luke xii, 29-31). But before any one can make the coming of His kingdom, their first business they must obtain eternal life as the gift of God, and this is more important than keeping the body alive, a thing that only God Himself can do, for He giveth life and breath and all things, and no one can keep alive his own soul (Acts xvii, 25, 28; Ps. cxli, 29). To the man who thought he had plenty to keep his body and soul together for a long time God said: "This night thy soul shall be required of thee. Then whose shall those things be?"

The great thing is to be rich toward God by receiving Himself as our life and then ever be found laying up treasure in heaven by a whole hearted missionary life of winning others to Him and thus helping to hasten the coming of His kingdom (Luke xii, 35-37). To the question of these people, What shall we do that we might work the works of God? His answer was that the one thing needful, the one essential thing, was to believe on Him whom God had sent—that is, receive Him (verses 28, 29; 1, 12). Then they ask for a sign, some work of His, that they might believe on Him, and this after they had just seen Him feed thousands of people with a few loaves and fishes. What more did they want? What more could they ask? Then they seem to make light of His recent feeding of the multitude by quoting Moses as feeding Israel in the wilderness. This led to His further discourse on eating Himself as the real manna, the true bread from heaven. Mark His wonderful words, "My Father giveth you the true bread from heaven, for the bread of God is He which cometh down from heaven and giveth life unto the world; I am the living bread which came down from heaven: if any man eat of this bread he shall live forever, and the bread that I will give is my flesh, which I will give for the life of the world." "Except ye eat the flesh of the Son of Man and drink His blood ye have no life in you" (verses 32, 33, 38, 42, 51, 53).

No mere man could say such things and be truthful or in His right mind, but He was the God-man, God manifest in the flesh, and He was the Truth. Compare verses 47, 54 and note that He says to eat His flesh and drink His blood is the same as believing in Him, for the result of each is eternal life, and there are not two ways of obtaining eternal life. Compare verse 56 and 1 John iii, 24, and note that eating His flesh and drinking His blood bring the same result as keeping His commandments. So the one great thing is just believing Him, receiving Him, appropriating Him, as He would for our bodies. As He lived by the Father who sent Him, we are to eat Him and live by Him (verse 57). This is no new figure, for the prophets understood it, one saying, "Thy words were found, and I did eat them, and thy word was unto me the joy and rejoicing of my heart," another being admonished in these words: "Eat that thou findest: eat this roll, and go speak unto the house of Israel; * * * all they bowels with this roll that I give thee * * * and speak with my words unto them" (Jer. xv, 16; Ezek. iii, 1-4).

Because of these sayings the Jew, murmured at Him, as did also many of His disciples, yet He went on to speak of ascending up where He was before (verses 41, 51, 52). Many of His disciples even went back and walked no more with Him, but if they had been true disciples they would have continued with Him. As it is written, "They went out from us, but they were not of us" (verse 66 and 1 John ii, 19). Simon Peter's answer when He asked "Will ye also go away?" is very notable: "Lord, to whom shall we go? Thou hast the words of eternal life, and we believe and are sure that thou art that Christ, the Son of the Living God" (verses 67-69). Perhaps no word in this discourse has brought more comfort to souls than the last clause of verse 37, "Him that cometh to Me I will in no wise cast out." So when any unsaved sinner or any wandering backslider comes to Him they may be certain of being accepted. The first clause of that verse should rest us concerning the sure completion of His church.

Fashion Hints By Margaret Mason

(Written for the United Press)
On Monday she was a saintly nun, On Tuesday a Carmen bold, On Wednesday she was the harem's pride, In veils and an anklet gold; On Thursday night in a cheese cloth scarf, She went as a piece of cheese, On Friday night as "The breath of Spring," She started to sneeze and sneeze; Saturday found her a red cross nurse, Most terribly cross and red, For after a week of costume balls She really was almost dead; But even then on the Sabbath morn, She wasn't herself they said, For she was a pink pajama girl When they tucked her into bed.

New York, March, 9.—Masquerades and costume fetes certainly seem to be growing on us. If only the costumes themselves could grow on us it wouldn't be so expensive.

Dressing up is the universal joy of all ages and all nationalities. In all walks of life we find a penchant for it from infancy, when he is just beginning to toddle, till old age, when we are just beginning to totter.

There's this vast difference though between the dressing up of childhood and the dressing up of maturity. All you have to give the children an excuse for dressing up is a bit of old ribbon or a discarded hat, but as an excuse for the dressing up of grown-ups you have to give an Arabian Night's bill or an Old World fete.

The war, of course, has provided the best excuse of all for dressing up with costume balls for all sorts of relief for all sorts of nations. Consequently life in the big American cities is just one costume ball after another and even out in Wamego, Kansas and Adrian, Michigan the cowboy suits and terrors the Chinese kimono and Colonial gowns at the local costumers are always worn to a thread.

Have you ever noticed how invariably people pick out their costumes to represent some character in direct antithesis to their ordinary everyday personality. They sort of cut loose as it were and let themselves be what they have always secretly yearned to be in their innermost bosoms. For instance the meek drab little housewife and mother blossoms out into a devilish seductive Carmen, Thais or Cleopatra.

The rather gay young person who makes up her lips and powders her nose runs to Quaker, nun or Red Cross nurse effects while the portly and Amazonian Miss Vera Bigg comes as a baby doll or Little Boopie.

This works for males as well as the fair sex and Mr. Hen Peck always masquerades as a swashbuckling grenadier or a bloodthirsty Corsair, Prof. Erasmus Highbrow as Little Boy Blue or Buster Brown and Deacon Goods as Don Juan or Mephisto.

Arabian Nights' halls, Russian Fetes and Masques of the Gods have become a bit cloying after endless repetition so that a recent benefit ball where all the guests came to represent some well known advertisement was a welcome and diverting novelty.

The costumes were most clever and unique and the idea will bear much repetition for private consumption. Possibilities for costumes are endless and beautifully simple. If you want to go as a dentifrice, just wear a smile and carry a toothbrush.

If or you so choose you may carry a spear, wear a corsage of mint leaves and go as a gum girl.

If the costumes are restricted to certain periods or certain groups of things the ideas are apt to be much cleverer and more original than when a sweeping conglomeration of everything is permissible.

An artist's ball with every one to represent some well known canvas character or beauty lacks freshness since all the masters, old and modern have been worn to the last coat in many tableaux vivants for several seasons. Then to painted ladies are
